

Membership of ProSPER.Net is limited to higher education institutions located in the Asia-Pacific region that offer postgraduate education and research in sustainable development (SD) and in fields related to education for sustainable development (ESD). ProSPER.Net also has an affiliate membership category. Affiliate members of ProSPER.Net are higher education institutions located outside the Asia-Pacific region working together with the network for the benefit of the region.

Applications are currently being accepted for membership to ProSPER.Net for 2018. The application should include a statement of intention and should be accompanied by a formal dossier demonstrating the institution's strength and expertise in the areas of SD and ESD at the postgraduate level. If your institution is interested in applying for membership, please contact the ProSPER.Net Secretariat (ProSPERNet@unu.edu). The deadline for submissions is 31 August, 2018.

The ProSPER.Net General Assembly (GA) takes decisions on membership.

There may also be ProSPER.Net partners representing higher education institutions or other stakeholders such as private sector, governments, research institutions and international organisations, who would work with the members of ProSPER.Net to achieve the network's goals.

For more information

ProSPER.Net Secretariat
ESD Programme, UNU-IAS
ProSPERNet@unu.edu

Download ProSPER.Net Membership Policy and Procedure
Download membership application form
Download application form for affiliate member
Download FAQ on ProSPER.Net