

The School of Global, Urban, and Social Studies at RMIT University welcomes visiting postgraduate students, faculty, and researchers to engage joint student research supervision, joint curriculum development, joint research projects, and joint teaching programmes. RMIT may be able to offer funding to help support international research exchange, international visiting fellowships, and support degrees for postgraduate students.

Those interested may contact: Brendan Barrett, brendan.barrett@rmit.edu.au

Exchange students are also welcome and RMIT has student exchange agreements with 150 universities across the globe. For more information on how to apply to RMIT for a student exchange please contact RMIT Global Mobility. For more information on RMIT Global Mobility programmes click here.

Please note RMIT has an established Credit Policy and Credit Transfer Policy that outline how it is possible for formal credit agreements between RMIT and other tertiary institutions following AQF arrangements.
